November Programs

Tuesday, November 13; 1:00 - 3:00 p.m. - "The Spirits Speak: A Historical Presentation on Modern Spiritualism in the 1800s" presented by historical interpreters from the Littleton Museum

The development of the Modern Spiritualist Movement in the United States is the focus of this program which will feature first-person presenters in the roles of Mrs. John Fox, the mother of the Fox sisters who started the movement in upstate New York, and Mr. John Brown who was known as the "Medium of the Rockies." Gain insight into the lives of these people who helped shape many of the beliefs still held in today's popular culture.

Tuesday, November 20; 9:30 - 11:30 a.m. EARLY BIRD CLASS
"Using City Directories and Sanborn Maps to Learn About Our Ancestors" presented by Ed Storey, Pikes Peak Genealogical Society

City directories and Sanborn maps are two widely available sources that can help the researcher better understand where ancestors lived and worked. The directories are useful in gaining the most benefit from the maps. This presentation will show how to access these sources and use them to the best advantage in your genealogy research.

Tuesday, November 20; 1:00 - 3:00 p.m. "World War I Resources and Research" presented by Sandy Ronayne, CGHS member

This presentation will introduce some of the online and print resources available for researching a U.S. veteran of the Great War.
